A TERRIFIC CYCLONE

Sweeps Over Philadelphia — Hundreds of People Homeless.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3.—A terrific cyclone, sweeping up the Delaware river this afternoon, struck this city near Greenwich Point, demolishing a portion of the works of the Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing company and injuring several employes. It took a course across the river, wrecked the river steamer Major Reybold and the ferryboat Peerless. The storm blew Pilot Emory Townsend and Capt. Eugene Reybold, of the steamer Reybold, drowning the former and painfully injuring the captain. The Peerless was swept clean almost to the water's edge. When the Major Reybold was struck, it was seen that the cyclone's immense power came from its rotary motion. Several people were thrown through a hole to the lower deck, and all the upper works were swept away like chaff. The confusion among the passengers was indescribable, and some jumped into the river, but it is believed that all were rescued.

While the cyclone was upon the vessel everything was black as the blackest night. Sofas were broken to splinters and carpets torn to shreds in the cabin, as if they had been paper. The cyclone lasted about a minute, and after it passed the vessel rolled and pitched fearfully in the great waves and came near swamping.

THE STORM'S PATH

The storm then passed over to the Jersey side, striking John Dialogue's shipyards below Haighn's point, destroying the buildings of the establishment. Then it took a course along the New Jersey river, demolishing all the buildings in its path up to the bridge at Camden. At this point the cyclone took an easterly course to Fifth street, Camden, embracing in its path all that section between Second and Fifth streets to the Deleware river, which washes the northern portion of the city.

Passing over the river and skirting Petty's Island the storm passed over to that part of the 25th ward of Philadelphia known as Richmond. In its ravages in Camden scores of dwelling houses were unroofed and many of them blown down, and the damage to business property along the river front is enormous. Hundreds of families are rendered homeless, and one victim, Charles Daizey, was killed outright.

At the American dredging company's wharf another, Harry Stevens, had a leg cut off by a flying piece of timber and will probably die.

DEATH AND DESTRUCTION.

The track of the storm through Richmond, marked with death and destruction was almost due north from the Port Richmond coal wharves. About 150 dwelling houses were wrecked, or so badly damaged as to be rendered unfit for habitation, and 200 families were driven from their homes to be cared for by neighbors.

A number of persons were seriously, and some fatally, injured. A girl of 10 years, Lizzie McVeigh, was killed at her home, 172 Melvale street, in sight of her mother, who was herself pinioned to the floor by falling rafters a few feet from the dying child.

The cyclone is described by those who witnessed its progress in the river, as an immense, black, cone-shaped cloud, with the apex resting upon the water and the base mingling with rain clouds which hung in dense masses from the sky. It is impossible yet to estimate the amount of damage done.

AN OBSERVER'S STATEMENT.

John Dialogue, of Camden, whose works were destroyed, says: "Looking out of the door upon the river I saw the tornado's approach. I could see the buildings of the Philadelphia salt works on the Philadelphia side, going off like chaff. Then the storm struck the Major Reynold, which was partially abreast of my place. Portions of her upper works were hurled fully 400 feet into the air, a tremendous roar preceded it. The moving fury resembled a dense mass of rolling black smoke, and it traveled within ten feet of the surface of the river. A singular phenomenon was noticed, not only by myself but by all the men in the yards. This was a huge ball of fire, fully ten feet in diameter, which swiftly accompanied the storm cloud. After playing havoc with my establishment, I saw this ball of fire explode, about 250 yards north of me, with a report so terrific as to shake the very foundations of buildings in my yard. Following this came a number of explosions, but with less force. All the sky to the eastward was unusually bright, and had a sort of rainbow appearance. In fact, this was one of the most remarkable sights of the kind that I had ever seen. The ball of fire which exploded, I am satisfied, played the mischief at the American dredging company's place."

MORE PARTICULARS.

Short & Harb's three story mill on Salmon street, Richmond, this city, was completely wrecked and scattered in all directions. There were about eighty people employed in the mill, most of them young girls, and the effect was to throw them into a panic. A large number jumped from the second story windows, and were only slightly injured, while others were hurled to the ground by the falling walls and were struck by flying timbers and bricks.

Before the storm the air was filled with flying debris, and people seeing the awful sight, fled in terror by hundreds to their cellars. The cyclone lasted between four and five minutes, and was marked with terrific puffs and roars. It is a singular fact that flat-roofed houses suffered most The wind, with the greatest ease, catching them under the cornice, lifted them as though they were sheets of paper. There is hardly an instance of where a mansard roof building was wrecked.

So great was the violence of the wind that fronts and sides of houses were mashed as if they were eggshells. Roofs were carried hundreds of yards away, shade trees were mowed down like platoons of soldiery on a battle field, and great monster trees that had stood the storms of years were uprooted or broken off like pipestems. The eccentricities of the wind could be seen on every side. Buildings which it would seem an ordinary storm would demolish and which were in the direct path of the storm, were spared, while their neighbors' modern structures of brick would be gutted or wrecked outright.

IN DELAWARE.

SMYRNA, Del., Aug. 3—A terrible cyclone visited this section this afternoon, totally destroying property for miles In a swath 300 feet wide stock was killed and orchards, cornfields, etc., destroyed. No lives are known to be lost.

YESTERDAY'S DISPATCHES.

Steady Advance of the Cholera.

Are France and Russia About to Coalesce!

PERSIA.

TEHEREN, August 5—The shah has authorized the construction of a military road from Bushir to the Afghan frontier. This is reported to be an English project, England granting a subsidy for the work, which is intended for the rapid transportation of troops from the Persian gulf toward Herat.

RUSSIA.

LONDON, August 4.—The Russians are planning a new town at Merv, including the citadel, barracks at the gardens and bazaars.

Owing to rumors that the Afghans are massing near Penjdeh, strong Russian reinforcements have been dispatched to that place.

SPAIN.

MADRID, August 5.—Cholera has for some time existed in the gaol at Carthagena, but every effort has been made to suppress an outside knowledge of the fact. Yesterday it leaked out that no less than 200 criminals imprisoned within the gaol were down with the scourge. The discovery produced a fearful panic among other convicts, and they rose in revolt and made most desperate efforts to get away from the prison. They were, however, finally overpowered by the soldiery and compelled to resume their quarters. Several inmates of the gaol at Granada are also ill with the cholera.

FRANCE.

PARIS, August 4.—Several cases of cholera are in the Paris hospitals, and a number of other patients are down with the disease, undergoing private treatment. In the city the authorities and all newspapers except the Cri du People and the radical organs refram from mentioning the appearance of the disease in Paris, fearing the announcement would frighten away English and American tourists.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, Aug. 5—Mr. Parnell, speaking in the commons last night, said he was glad that the landlords' opposition to the land purchase bill had not been pressed and there seemed to be a chance for the bill passing. The present attitude of the house augured well for the shaping of future legislation for Ireland. He objected to the use of the church surplus, because he considered the government possessed ample security without that fund. He congratulated the Conservatives upon attempting to deal in a satisfactory way with the land questions.

The Times in its eulogy to-day on Gen. Grant, renders to his character the highest praise. It says that the action of the Confederate generals, Johnson and Buckner, in acting as pall bearers, testifies to the end of the civil strife between the north and south.

Lord John Manners, postmaster general, stated in the house of commons this afternoon that the British government had no intention of extending the contract for carrying the American mails to the North German steamship company.

LONDON, Aug. 5—The discontented section of the Tories, led by the Whig section of the late cabinet, are making overtures for a coalition. Sir Wm. Harcourt, Mr. Foster and the Duke of Argyle are exchanging views with the Duke of Richmond, Sir Richard Cross and others. It is intended to obtain a new parliament a majority sufficient to contest the Radicals and Parnelites.

EGYPT.

CAIRO, Aug. 5—It is now denied that Osma Digman is dead.

GERMANY.

BERLIN, Aug. 5.—An article in the North German Gazette, attacking France in connection with the advice of the Paris Temps that the French cavalry on the frontier be reinforced, has seriously affected the Berlin and Frankfort Bourses. It is supposed in official circles that the object of the article is to prepare the public for a large increase in the military budget. All German newspapers are following the Gazette and dwell upon the fact that the approach of France and Russia towards each other is coinciding with the increasing good will between England and Germany.

The rector of the university, Berlin, at celebration yesterday, in honor of the founder, Frederick William, toasted the health of Emperor William in the following words: "Long life and peace, should, however, the arrogance of our neighbors pass from daring words into daring deeds, they will learn that the old spirit still lives."

MONACO.

MONACO, Aug. 5.—The Russian prince, Alexander Gagarine, driven to desperation by heavy losses at the gambling tables of Monte Carlo, has committed suicide.

DELAYED DISPATCHES.

SPAIN.

MADRID, August 3.—In the whole of Spain last Saturday there were reported 3280 new cases of cholera and 1440 deaths. The military governor of Grenada has succumbed to the pestilence. The cholera is raging in the convict settlement at Carthagena.

The Correspondencia Espanola reports that five persons were suffocated while a house was being fumigated at Jaen. The cholera continues to spread to new provinces.

CANADA.

TORONTO, August 3.—The verdict of the jury in the Riel trial is looked upon as a just one, and the opinion is freely expressed that Riel should suffer the extreme penalty of the law.

SOUTH AMERICA.

ANTOFOGASTA, Bolivia, (via Galveston, Texas,) August 3.—The custom house and several other buildings burned yesterday. Loss, about $1,000,000.

WANTED—A NEW GOLD FIELD.

Now that Cassiar has incontinently collapsed as a mining field, with no hope of resurrection, according to the Standard of Saturday, it is not advisable to waste time or space in discussing its merits or demerits. A mining district needs something more than a name or reputation of better days to keep it bolstered up successfully before the public—especially a public quick to judge reliability and extent of every new gold discovery. The country stands in need of a new placer gold field, or "poor man's diggings," which can be worked with a small sum of money and a large investment of energy, perseverance and labor. We need the mines in which individual miners may be richly rewarded, and not those where the expediture of large capital is required even to develop the fact whether the mine will pay or not. If a mining district has ceased to pay, we see no fault in making that fact known. Cariboo had its day; Cassiar has followed suit. No one is more cognizant of this fact than the residents of the latter district, who must admit that about all the miners have deserted the camp and are now prospecting for new fields. Is it not better to have the public know the exact state of affairs than to entice men blindfolded into a field where no gold exists? New discoveries are being reported from several sections of the mainland, and it is quite possible that one among so many prospective gold fields may yield enough of the precious metal to warrant the establishment of a good camp. It would not be reasonable to expect the camp to remain a permanent fixture after the ground had been thoroughly worked, as is the case at Cassiar. The Standard says that even the Chinamen have deserted Cassiar, because there was not gold enough to pay their moderate expenses, and if a Chinaman cannot make a living there, why mislead white men in the belief that gold exists in paying quantities? The city is crowded with miners and prospectors, now from Cassiar, Cariboo and other mining camps, waiting to rush for the next gold field, which must surely exist where gold is found in such a large area of territory. Recent dispatches from Fort Hope are very encouraging, the indications are good, and as parties have gone to the locality to thoroughly determine the extent of the field, we may expect some news in a few days that possibly might bring the new gold field close to our doors.

THE CENTRAL SCHOOL.

Our esteemed morning contemporary is still mourning over the recent appointment of a talented and experienced young lady from Canada and will not be comforted. He asserts (in his anxiety to connect the provincial secretary with the appointment) that the appointee is a resident of New Westminster district; while all his correspondents maintain that she is "a stranger," "a foreigner," and "an interloper." Query—Is a Canadian a foreigner? We commend the letter of "Many Canadians" in yesterday's Colonist to the perusal of our illiberal, illogical and untruthful contemporary and his correspondents. If a lady or gentleman is to be shut out from public employment merely because he or she is a Canadian, it is time that those who have come among us from east of the mountains and brought their money and their railway with them were apprised of the fact. They will then know how to act. Intellectual superiority knows no geographical bounds, is hemmed in by no political lines, and the men who aim to confine school appointments to natives of the province—simply because they are natives—will shortly find that the better sense of the country will repel them and their sectional and narrow-minded doctrine.

Cumyow vs. Foreigner.

To the Editor:—During a residence of some twenty-six years in this province this is only the second time I appear by letter in print, but after reading "Fair Play's" most sensible letter, and having a few moments to spare, I think it but right that I should endorse that letter in toto. I think "Fair Play" has been lax in not letting the public know more about the native born Cumyow than that he is simply a British subject.

I have been identified with all kinds of business on this coast since 1858, and having had many transactions with Cumyow, particularly when he was the representative for four years of the important house of Kwong Lee & Co. at Yale, and in many other business transactions. It is a pleasure for me to have to pronounce him a young man of thorough business qualifications, speaking the best English, keeping a splendid set of books, writing a hand that many of us could envy, undertaking and carrying through successfully all transactions that might be entrusted to him; courteous and of gentlemanly bearing, which every one that knows him must admit, and which has given him the entree to many of our governmental and public receptions, etc.

I fully agree with "Fair Play" that if there were a white man (which there is not) competent to act, and being one of our citizens he should, of course, be preferred.

I would mention that I have not seen Cumyow for some six weeks, nor said one word on this subject to him or to any one connected with him, and being thoroughly opposed to the Chinese element I hope that these few unsolicited words on behalf of a deserving young man who has worked himself to, I might say, an enviable position, may be taken as impartial by the government and public from one who, outside of his home, has the welfare of British Columbia at heart.

Pro Bono Publico.

The Amities and Their Patron.

To the Editor:—I notice the Times faults you for withholding the fact that the prize competed for by the baseball people on Saturday was presented by the woman who keeps that notorious house known as the Park Hotel.

I am shocked to think that the baseball boys would so far forget respect for themselves and their relatives as to accept a prize from such a source, and I also think you are deserving of praise, instead of censure, for concealing what should bring a blush of shame to every virtuous brow.

Your contemporary would appear to have constituted himself the "touter," the "bully" for the house in question. Well, I suppose he has a right to choose his avocation and his company. A house of that kind usually keeps a "bully," but respectable people do not generally make an associate of such.

Paterfamilias.

Reply to "Northwest."

To the Editor:—A correspondent of the Times in the early part of June, signing himself "Northwest," took it into his head to write a mild criticism on my letter which appeared in the columns of The Colonist a short time before.

When I notice how careful "Northwest" has been not to notice certain portions of my letter, I am led to believe that he assents to their truth; but tries by statements irrelevant to the question at issue to divert the public mind.

He said nothing about the learning respectability or truthfulness of the men who testified before the commission at Metlakahtla, or who had written to the papers. We simply quoted Mr. Clifford's own words as reported by the commissioners; and if his own words condemn him so much the worse for Mr. Clifford.

We did speak of men hostile to religion. When men can stand up in the presence of a bishop and before H. M. commission and denominate a passage of God's word dear to every true Christian's heart "bosh," I think I was not far wrong when I said "men hostile to religion."

It is really difficult to understand what "Northwest" means by his string of epithets, falsehood, uncharitableness, inhospitality, and cupidity. Until we find the contrary we must suppose "Northwest" a truthful man. He boasts of his knowledge of Northwest affairs and, of course, he must have an intimate acquaintance with the leading men of this section. "Northwest" dares not, over his own name, state one instance, wherein either Messrs. Crosby or Green has exhibited the character described by either of his terms. I have no doubt at all that "Northwest" has already enjoyed the hospitality of Messrs. Green and Crosby and expressed himself as delighted with the progress the Indians have made in christianity and civilization, as certain gentlemen did two years ago when seeking the influence of the Methodist missionaries to secure for themselves lucrative offices. I may add that "Northwest," whether known or unknown, though he now opposes these missionaries, will receive from Messrs. Crosby and Green a hearty welcome to their table should he visit their missions; but they will feel assured that they are not entertaining an angel in disguise.

It is an easy matter for men to write letters abusing the missionary; to make all sorts of wild charges; but it is another thing to substantiate them. I should regret if "Northwest's" career terminated as another defamer of missionaries up this coast, who, after doing his worst to slander the missionary had to leave on questionable grounds.

It is quite uncalled for on the part of "Northwest" to cast discredit on the ability of the officers sent to arrest the murderer of Youmans. The way in which these gentlemen acquitted themselves in connexion with that sad affair commends itself to all impartial minds. But the fact stands, nevertheless, and no discredit to these gentlemen, that they could not have proceeded by way of the Naas, had not Mr. Green induced his Indians to take the course they did.

Messrs. Green and Crosby desire no thanks from the government for their action in this matter, and we would never have mentioned it again had not such men as Northwest charged them with disloyalty, a charge without one tittle of proof.

To my denial that the Methodist Indians disturbed the claimants to the timber lands, Northwest says, "There is largely preponderating evidence to the contrary. To this I say Mr. Northwest, bring forward your evidence at once or stand condemned as a false witness.

What local officials have been ignored? Very likely Northwest wants to have more of such justice dealt out to the Indians as was dispensed to them on the Naas in connection with Graveyard Point. Why should not grievances be taken to Victoria? Are high-salaried officials at the capital to sit in their offices undisturbed by the legitimate business it is their's to transact? The taxpayers of the Dominion say no!

Says Northwest, "The Northwest Indians had not a grievance until the Methodist missionaries so instructed them." Will Northwest, from the unfathomable depths of his knowledge, explain how it is in the history of Methodism on this coast, law and order have so triumphed at all our missions, that not a single warship has had to come to quell a disturbance or to arbitrate on differences between our people?

Northwest speaks of an "impudent and unwarrantable intrusion of Mr. Green and his few followers into the house of a chief." He pretends to understand this case. But he has either ignorantly or wilfully misrepresented it. The house referred to at Kit-wan-silth was owned by the chief, at whose earnest solicitation Mr. Green entered it for the purpose stated in my letter. Further, this house had been used for church and school purposes for nearly two years previous by William Henry Pierce.

What is the value of Northwest's statement? He says this case was taken to the attorney-general. To no one else. Does Northwest wish to shift the responsibility from its appropriate resting place? Northwest says, he does not go so far as to say that Christian Indians shall worship God when they please. What! Are Indians to be deprived of the privilege the laws of our land confer on every man who steps on our shore? Freedom to worship God. Northwest must have spent much of his time in Alaska, when that country was under the rule of the Czar; for his ideas of freedom seem foreign from British soil.

The closing sentences of his letter answer themselves. As Canadians, we boast of our freedom and the parity of the subject. As loyal citizens, we ask the officials of this country with whom we are necessarily brought into contact impartially to measure out to our missions that justice and fairness that every religious denomination in this country has a right to claim; and if this be not done, we shall appeal to the bar of public opinion.

D. Jennings.

ENGLAND.

London, Aug. 5.—Prime Minister Salisbury to-day gave his answer to a deputation of sugar manufacturers, who recently called upon him to urge him to take retaliatory measures upon the United States government for the bounty afforded through means of its customs laws to American manufacturers of sugar. Lord Salisbury said the difficulty encountered by the government consisted in its inability to impose counter valid duties; the country was committed to a policy which forbade this. The government could not give the desired help unless the country changed its free trade policy. If the country should so will it not a shred of the reciprocity would be adopted by the government. As for himself, the premier said he could see no remedy. It would be useless to complain to a foreign country unless England was positively in the position to retaliate. If in case of negotiation to change the tariff laws, which discriminated against the British government were empowered to threaten reprisals, evils like the one complained of could soon be cured. He hoped, however, that foreign countries would ultimately see their way to abolish duties altogether, and British foreign affairs would do all in its power to do so.

CALIFORNIA.

San Francisco, August 5.—The master in chancery has reported to Judge Sawyer of the United States circuit court the fact that Miss Sarah Althea Hill drew a revolver from her satchel while the examination of witnesses in the case of Sharon vs. Hill was being proceeded with. Justice Field, who was present, made an order that the marshal of the court take measures to disarm Miss Hill and keep her disarmed while she is in attendance at court.

EASTERN STATES.

New York, August 5—Grant's funeral train arrived at the Grand Central depot at 5 p. m. All the employés of the New York Central Railway company at Pough keepsie were drawn up beside the work train on the road at that station, and every browned and blue-shirted fellow stood with uncovered head as the train bearing the remains of Grant passed. While portentious clouds had become leaden hued from an approaching storm, Fishkill was passed on time at 3.11 o'clock, and when the train had gone by the people were seen hurrying upon the track to pick up coins which they had placed on the rails to be beaten flat by the wheels. At Garrison there was shown a tribute from his old student home to the dead soldier alongside the railway before the station. The cadets from West Point were drawn up in line at "present arms." All officers of the post were near by with uncovered heads, and the band from the post, with muffled drums, was playing "Sweet Spirit hear my Prayer." The strains were not loud, and all the while at intervals of 5 seconds came the sound of guns at Little station, when the train swept around the curve and left the Hudson behind. The rain was falling on Harlem and High Bridge. Though a splendid vantage ground there was no people. Gen. Grant's last journey was ended, and from the first there had been no clang of bell nor sound of whistle.

FORTY-FIVE YEARS AGO.

How the Boys of Western New York Used to Enjoy Sublunary Existence.

[Cor. San Francisco Argonaut.]

In winter we snow-balled, slid down hill, and skated. In summer we swam in the creek and boated in the pond. There was a village debating society, and we had district spelling schools. We drove the girls to apple-paring bees in "pungs," made with crockery crates on "bob-sleds" filled with straw and buffalo robes. There were husking frolics, candy-pullings, maple sugar-making, summer picnics, general training, Fourth of July celebrations, Thanksgiving dinners. We did not dance because it was wicked; we played games and kissed the girls for forfeits. In summer we played ball, and our mothers made the balls of yarn unraveled from old stockings covered with old buckskin gloves. We made the bats ourselves. We pitched quoits, and the quoits were old horse-shoes or flat stones.

In winter we broke steers and colts. In hog-killing times we blew up the bladders and roasted pig-tails. In the long winter evenings, around a blazing fire, we had apples, cider, butternuts and hickory nuts—these gathered in the summer, and their gathering was a holiday. In summer after the dandelions came we went barefoot. In spring we made corn-stalk fiddles, whistles from the willow, and flutes from pumpkin-vines. We fished with angle-worms. We went to school in the winter, doing the chores in the morning and evening. We worked on the farm in summer.

To amuse ourselves we went to the menagerie, or exhibition of wild animals, to which all the country young folks might go—the circus was tabooed to the more orthodox families, who made conscience an excuse for meanness. This class of young folk skirmished for the shilling of admission, or crawled under the tent. Accompanying the circus was the side show of the fat woman, the boa-constrictor, and the Albino children. The clown of that day was better than the one of to-day; the horseback rider has never been surpassed. General training was a great occasion. Election day came in August; it was an important day for settling fights and for wrestling matches. The Fourth of July was the grandest day in the year. It had its procession, reading of the Declaration, oration and poem, and in the evening fireworks, fire-balls of cotton-wick soaked in turpentine, lighted and thrown by the hand. We had Chinese fire-crackers—sixpence a package. A blacksmith's anvil placed above another did duty as artillery, and was fired at sunrise on Independence day. The great social festival was New Year's Day. Christmas had a'nt it the flavor of popery, and in those days Rome was regarded as the scarlet blonde bad woman of Babylon.

It was the beginning of "negro minstrelsy." A learned pig was exhibited which could play cards and step among eggs without breaking them. The show-bill described the performance as "the learned pig dancing on eggs." An occasional concert was given with comic songs—I recall one: "Pretty Polly Polly Hopkins, how do you do? None the better, Mr. Tommy Tommy Tompkins for seeing you." Another was "Coal-black Rose," and "Jump Jim Crow."

Coroner's Inquest.

The continuation of the inquiry into the cause of the Enterprise steamer disaster was held yesterday at two o'clock.

Capt. Ashbury Insley, sworn—Said that he was master of the steamer Rithet at the time of the collision with the Enterprise off Cadboro Point on Tuesday of last week; was in the dining saloon at the time getting lunch; this was about two in the afternoon; heard the signal of the Rithet to the approaching boat to go to port; we usually passed the down boat in that vicinity; was expecting her at the time; remained in my seat at the table; some little time after the whistle blew heard the gong signal to the engineer; it struck one bell; this was to stop the engine; the time between the whistle and gong signals could not have been more than five minutes; he had left the quartermaster, Randall, in the pilot house at the wheel; asked Randall when he put him in charge of the wheel if he understood the bells, and he stated that he did; he left no further orders, as it was a standing order that when approaching a boat they should leave plenty of room; did not know whether the mate was on deck; he was not in the pilot house; the quartermaster at the wheel was in charge of the boat when witness left; he does not hold a certificate of any class that I am aware of; had confidence that the quartermaster was competent to steer the boat in the locality they were in; he had acted as quartermaster on the Yosemite, and Capt. Irving had transferred him to the Rithet, he had been on the Rithet for several trips; at the time the whistle blew he knew the Rithet must be near Cadboro Point, to the southward; when the gong sounded I left my chair and started for the pilot house; did not reach the pilot house before the collison; was near the door of the saloon when the collision occurred; it did not cause much shock on the Rithet; could not swear positively whether he went first to the pilot house or the main deck; the Rithet's bow had run into the Enterprise at the boiler deck, almost parallel with the hull; he found the quartermaster in the pilot house; he then noticed the position of the boat; the deck began to lift and the hull to sink; there was considerable excitement among the passengers on the Enterprise; he then went down to the main deck, and met Capt. Rudlin on that deck; he asked the latter how the accident happened; he made no answer, and asked him why he was not on his own boat; Capt. Rudlin exclaimed, "My God! she's sinking;" witness told him she was not sinking rapidly, and he should be on his own boat looking after the passengers and getting his boats out; many of the passengers of the Enterprise climbed on to the Rithet over the boiler deck; noticed that there was a rip tide, two currents meeting, and noticed that if they kept the Rithet ahead the boats would not part, so as to enable the passengers to get off the Enterprise; Captain Rudlin must have followed him to the hurricane deck of the Rithet to assist in getting the boats out; during this time he noticed a number of men swimming in the water and also some of the cattle; the boat was not sinking rapidly; it was some ten or fifteen minutes after the collision that the steamer Western Slope came to their assistance; she was probably summoned by the whistle of the Enterprise; by the time she came over most of the Enterprise passengers were aboard the Rithet and the boats were picking up those who were in the water; the Enterprise rested on the forecastle deck of the Rithet, and the two did not separate until the Slope towed the Enterprise away; at this time the mast of the Enterprise fell over; it came foul of the davit posts of the Rithet; the pilot-house of the Enterprise was not smashed by the Rithet; it raised up when the Slope towed her away, on account of the settling of the hull; the damage to the pilot house was done at this time, as he had noticed particularly; a portion of the furniture and the carpet and floor of the Enterprise captain's cabin remained on the deck of the Rithet when she was towed away; as there was plenty of sea room at the time he considered the Rithet perfectly safe in charge of the quartermaster for a short time; had never seen his mate's certificate; he had told him that he had one when he joined the steamer; he had never asked him for it.

To Mr. Irving—The Rithet entered the Enterprise almost parallel with the hull; the captain's cabin is situated partly over the guards; had the Enterprise been a bluff-bowed boat the blow would probably have glanced off; witness held a captain's certificate; the Rithet was a properly certificated boat; they lost no passengers; he had known Randall before on the Yosemite, and when he took charge of the Rithet Randall was on the boat; he had made two short trips on the Yosemite with Randall as quartermaster and had full confidence in him as helmsman; had left him before at times in charge of the wheel, but never when in close quarters; there was ample sea room where the collision occurred; had asked Randall if he understood the bells, and when he said he did was satisfied to leave him in charge of the wheel; he had heard some exclamations from the passengers while he was on the way from the saloon; he took charge of the wheel when he got to the pilot house; after the collision he noticed that the wheel was hard to port; this would have the tendency to throw the Rithet away from the Enterprise. [Witness here illustrated what the effect would be if both vessels were hard to port.] The hydraulic steering gear was not in operation; the Rithet answers her helm very readily at times, when currents did not interfere; the engineer would answer the signal bell promptly.

To Mr. Gannaway—The position of the Rithet's wheel, hard-a port, was the proper one for it to be in; could not say whether the Chinaman drowned could have been saved; the vessel did not sink rapidly: the fore part of the boat first; everything possible was done to save the passengers; there was quite an excitement among them.

Harry Randall, sworn, deposed that he was quartermaster of the Rithet at the time of the collision; was left in charge of the wheel at about a quarter to two; the steamer at this time was coming through Trial Island Pass, heading up for the beacon; saw the Enterprise shortly afterward over the reef at Ten-mile Point: she was to the northward of the point, and we were just past the beacon in the channel; we were about a mile apart; when the steamers were about a quarter of a mile I blew our whistle; don't know whether she answered; the steamers at the time were heading almost directly for each other; he saw the Enterprise either starboarding her wheel or else swinging with the tide; he made a remark to the mate who was standing alongside of him in the pilot house saying, "My God! what's the man trying to do? He's going to cross our bow;" didn't shift the wheel then—was not aware what they were going to do; the wheel was a little to port; the mate stopped the engine, and at the same time I put the wheel hard to port; this was at the time the Enterprise was trying to port; previous to this she was on our starboard bow; she then shifted hard to port, and we struck her as she was passing; at the time she was hard to port we were about ten vessel's lengths off; did not receive an order to go hard to port as that was the regular rule; the mate helped to put it over; we were heading toward San Juan island when the vessels struck; the Rithet struck the Enterprise on the port side; both steamers were nearly and going off to port when they struck; as soon as the collision occurred the mate left the pilot-house to clear the boats, and Captain Insley came into the house at about the same time; Captain Insley took a look around, and then they both went below to the freight deck; he there saw Captain Rudlin coming aboard in a small boat and heard him singing out three or four times, "On the Rithet, lower the boats;" witness heard the conversation between the two captains, as evidenced by Captain Insley; the latter then told the witness to help the mate lower the boats; took one of the waiters and one of the boats and commenced picking up the passengers; they pulled to the stern and a number of Chinese on the steamer wanted them to come to them; he would not, as they could get from one steamer to the other; they picked a number of people up, and were the last boat in; the pilot-house of the Enterprise was not struck by the Rithet; the mate was standing inside the pilot-house door, almost in a direct line with the Rithet's nose; he stood there a second, looking at the Rithet, and then run for the paddle-box on the port side; had he remained in the pilot house he would not have been hurt; he was directly in front of the Rithet's nose when she struck, and the shock threw him in the air; the Rithet's jib-stay struck under the Enterprise's boiler deck and lifted it up and splinters were flying around; this was where the mate of the Enterprise was hurt; when witness got on board and the Rithet backed out from the Enterprise the latter's mast fell; the duties of the quartermaster are to steer the boat, keep the pilot-house in order, and to attend to the gangways at landings; have been a seaman all my life; do not hold any certificate; have acted as mate of a steamer in the United States.

To Mr. Irving—Had not seen the Enterprise when Capt. Insley handed over the wheel to me; the mate came into the pilot house just before I whistled; did not know when she was swinging to the starboard what they were trying to do on the Enterprise; thought she must have misunderstood the signal; she gave no indication how she was going; it is the rule that the down steamer has the right of way, and the Enterprise should have given the whistle as to which direction should be taken; the steamer was about 500 yards from shore on the port side; navigation is safe within 50 or 60 yards of James Island have been working for about four months for Capt. Irving; am never left in charge of the wheel on the Yosemite; either the captain or mate are in the pilot house; have never been in sole charge; stern wheeler bells are different from side-wheel steamers; have been used to both.

To Mr. Gannaway—The mate was near enough to give any orders when the whistle was blown.

To the Coroner—I understand the use of the chart and compass, and can take a boat anywhere around this island.

At five o'clock the inquest was adjourned until Friday at 2 o'clock.

Shocking Affair at Burrard Inlet.

On Tuesday evening a drunken sailor belonging to the British ship Albulla, loading lumber at Hastings for Shanghai, attacked the master, Captain Passmore, with a long knife, stabbing him in the thigh. The captain called for his revolver, which, being brought to him, he tried to use. The loss of blood which flowed from the wound caused him to faint, and the weapon dropped from his nerveless hand to the deck. The sailor sprang forward, picked up the weapon, and fired a shot into the captain's arm, shattering it. Captain Passmore's wounds are believed to be fatal. The sailor was secured.

CLERGYMEN IN THE WATER.—On Monday of last week a canoe load of reverend persons, going down the Nooksack river from the Crossing camp meeting to Ferndale, was upset just below the dam above Lynden by striking a snag. A little Indian girl was drowned and seven or eight men and women narrowly escaped with their lives. Indian George was piloting the canoe when it struck, upsetting into the river Hon. John A. Tennant, Rev. Sourd, Rev. Tate, Rev. Dobbs and others. None of the ministers could swim very well, and all would have been drowned but for the assistance of the Indians, who by swimming and diving searched the river bed and rescued the ministers from the water. All narrowly escaped a watery grave.

Meeting of the School Trustees.

A meeting of the board of school trustees was held at the City Hall yesterday afternoon, at four o'clock.

Present—Chairman Harris, Secretary Hayward, and Trustees Braden, Heisterman, Higgins, McMicking.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The resignation of Miss M. Williams was read and accepted.

A letter from Mrs. Leigh, mother of the janitor of the James Bay school, asking an increase of salary, $5 a month, was laid over.

Trustee Heisterman said that some of the boys were passed from the ward school into the Central school and put into lower classes.

Mr. Braden thought a visit to the schools ought to be made, and an investigation be made. He believed there was favoritism.

Mr. Higgins said, if any charges were to be made let them be specific. He thought the idea of favoritism was mythical. The names of teachers charged with favoritism should invariably be brought before the board.

Mr. McMicking said he thought some pupils were forced in their examinations to get them into the Central school to make room, as the ward schools are already overcrowded.

Four bills for expenses were ordered to be paid if found correct, and on motion of Trustee Heisterman the Standard advertising bill was referred to the goverament for payment.

Trustee Hayward suggested that some rule be made specifying the number of papers in which the board advertisements should appear.

Trustee Heisterman introduced the following resolution: Resolved, That the advertising of the board be given to one morning and one evening paper alternately; and that all job printing be given out by tender to the lowest bidder, not being the publisher of a newspaper.

Trustee McMicking seconded, and the resolution was adopted.

Two new applications for teacher's positions were received, and referred to the committee of the whole.

Trustee Higgins, reported briefly as chairman of the committee appointed to enquire into the establishing a night school, that the deputation had received very little encouragement for this year, as the grant for school purposes to this province is already very large—$100,375. It would be impossible to accomplish much now, but he hoped to secure next year a small grant in the school appropriation bill toward the support of a night school. He thought the city council would give temporary aid in furnishing a room, gas, etc., and possibly some money.

Trustee Braden said that so far as the room and gas were concerned the council might assist, but no money need be expected this year.

Mr. Halliday, principal of the boys school, applied for a dictionary. He also desired to know if he should continue to purchase chalk without an order.

Trustee Hayward said this province used more chalk than any other province in the Dominion.

Trustee McMicking said when he was a boy they used to have a fifty pound lump of chalk in the school room and the boys used to chip off a piece when wanted.

Trustee Higgins moved that the articles required by Mr. Halliday be furnished and that the pupils be invited to write an essay on the best method to prevent the consumption of chalk. Carried.

The board then resolved into committee of the whole.

The following promotions were made in the Central school:

Miss Isabel Barron, from the 5th to 4th division, girls'.

Miss L. Horton, from 6th boys' to 5th girls'.

Miss C. Forrist, from 6th to 5th division boys'.

After four ballots, Miss E. M. Carmichael was appointed teacher in the 6th division boys'.

What Some People Say.

That Dr. R. N. Piper, the writing expert, has given his opinion that the name of William Sharon to the marriage contract is a forgery.

That you should have the children's photos taken before the holidays are past. Go to Hall & Lowe's and get the very best. *

That Mr. Passmore Edwards has repurchased the Echo, the principal radical daily paper in London, for $500,000. Mr. Andrew Carnegie, of Pittsburg, U. S. A., and Mr Samuel Storey, M. P. for Sunderland, share between them $150,000.

That for fine Whiskey and Billiard Playing go to the "Edinburgh," corner of Yates and Douglas streets. 1m

That a curious case of white slavery is before the Montreal courts. In 1862 a young man named Saulniers sold himself for life to an elderly milkman named Rochon, who was to feed and clothe him and will him a comfortable property. Saulniers has been "let out" as a laborer. Rochon taking his pay, and now the old man refuses to make the bequest agreed upon; hence a suit for $2000 damages.

That the "Seaside," the latest and most beautiful style, is just the thing for children, made only by Hall & Lowe, photographers, over Victoria House, Government street. *

That a scientist says it takes a prodigious amount of vegetable matter to form a layer of coal; that it is estimated that the present growth of the world would make a layer only one-eighth of an inch thick, and that it would take 1,000,000 years to form a coal bed 100 feet thick.

That book and job printing and lithographic work of all kinds are executed at The Colonist office. *

That you can get a fine lithograph view of the Battle of Batoche for 35 cents, at J. B. FERGUSON & CO.'S. *

That the earnings of Mme. Rachel during her life amounted to 10,000,000 francs and in her will she bequeathed 2 000,000 francs to various beneficiaries. Sara Bernhardt has earned 13,000,000 francs already.

That another "positively last" man from Khartoum has turned up. He says that Gordon and his friends, after their betrayal, killed at least 200 Arabs, and were murdered only after their ammunition gave out.

SUPREME COURT.—The case of Vedder vs. Lumsden was continued during the whole of yesterday before Judge Gray and the hearing will be resumed to-day.

RAMBLING NOTES.

Steamboat, Rail, Cayuse and Stage.

A Trip Through Cache Creek and Bonaparte Valleys.

A representative of The Colonist recently made a trip of pleasure from Victoria to Clinton and Van Horne, and having made a few mental notes of what he saw and heard, places them before its readers.

Starting from Victoria on the handsome steamer Yosemite, with Capt. Rudlin in charge, the delightful trip through the straits, islands, gulf and river to New Westminster and Hammond is thoroughly enjoyed, visiting one of the salmon canneries on the way, and witnessing for the first time the manner of preparing and sealing

THE FRISKY SALMON.

The run this year has been something enormous, one night the boats bringing in 2000 and 3000 fish each. The fish were jumping out of the water on all sides of the steamer, the larger ones making a graceful curve and disturbing the water as they disappeared.

AT PORT HAMMOND

we put up for the night at the Wescott house, at 6 a. m. partake of a substantial breakfast, and an hour afterwards are being whirled at a great speed through the river farms and the lovely scenery of the Fraser. There are always a number of people on board a car who make the journey an amusing, interesting or disagreeable one, and on this occasion the attractive individual proved to be a genuine Yankee of the female persuasion, who loudly passed witty or absurd comments on the general appearance of everything and everybody, much to the amusement of the passengers.

The roadbed has been placed in splendid condition, and from Hammond to Yale will compare with that of any ever built on the continent. An hour for dinner at Yale and we again start and are interested at once with the grand rugged and awful scenery of the upper Fraser. Leaving the river after crossing the cantilever bridge we reach Lytton and pass along the sharp curves that exist on the road from that point to Spence's bridge. This section of road is on the whole line between Victoria and Montreal. We partake of supper at Spence's bridge, and night is on when we reach Black canon, when we pass around the tunnel on the trestle and reach Ashcroft at 11 p. m.

At this point the hotel of Barnes & Evans has been moved to within a short distance of the track, and on the front street as laid out in the map of the townsite. This latter has been done in anticipation of the building of a bridge across the Thompson river at this point to connect with the road leading from Craig's ranch to the Cariboo road, and thence to Cache creek. This branch road has recently been placed in splendid condition by the provincial government, and is in every way a first-class highway.

formerly Barnes' ranch, there is an excellent site for a town, and should the bridge be constructed undoubtedly a lively place will spring up, as the freight by team for all points in the Lillooet and Cariboo districts would come by rail to Ashcroft, and thence freighted by teams to destination. The hotel has been thoroughly refitted and good accommodation is now provided.

A number of those concerned in the freighting business contend that the bridge should span the river at a point several miles further east, immediately opposite Engineer Hamblin's house, where an easier grade is obtainable to the Savona road, and where there is also unlimited feed for cattle and horses, the latter a very necessary item to teamsters while awaiting a load. The general impression is, however, while this latter point has many advantages, that the bridge will be built at Ashcroft. This is —— miles from Spence's bridge, the present transhipping point, and will thus save considerable teaming, and materially reduce the cost of freight charges. Remaining at Barnes & Evans' hotel for the night, in the morning we were a work of about five minutes, and for which we were charged the modest sum of fifty cents per passenger. At present passengers are scarce by this route. A team was awaiting us at Craig's ranch, a fine stretch of bench land, well watered by irrigation. The drive from this point over the hills, covered with wormwood and sage, and with scarcely a tree in sight, was a charming one. As we ascend the hills the whole surrounding country is before us in full view, the crops on the ranches on both sides of the river on the bench lands looking pleasantly green in the morning sunlight. The mountain air was cool and bracing, and as we wind around the hillsides, past abrupt cliffs, with the Bonaparte river sparkling beneath, there is an indescribable sense of freedom and pleasure.

The Ashcroft road unites with the main road a mile or so from Cache creek, at which latter point we arrive at the same time as the stage, which has travelled from Van Horne with passengers, mails and express, having started from the latter town at 6 a. m.

CACHE CREEK

is situated in the valley of the Bonaparte river, which is bridged at two points, one at Campbell's hotel, and the other above the government boarding school, a half mile further on. The village consists of the well-appointed hotel and extensive stables, express, telegraph, stage and post offices, blacksmith shop, a number of residences, and the usual Chinese store, huts and tents, which are everywhere met with. Cache creek, from which the village obtains its name, empties into the Bonaparte a short distance above the town. This creek is made to do for it provides the irrigation and domestic water for the gardens and houses of the village.

On the Savona road a little above Cache creek proper is the new hotel of Stevenson & McLeod. A short distance above this we reach the extensive ranche of Chas. Semlin, M. P. P. This is about 1000 acres in extent, and is watered by means of Cache creek, which is tapped about a mile distant at the foothills. Crossing the Savona road it is distributed all over the ranche in lesser streams at the elevated points, from which it is variously distributed among the growing crops in little streams. The land is of such a nature that this to a considerable extent again seeps into a ditch which carries the water to several other ranches east of Semlin's, and at a point six or seven miles down the water remaining finds its way into the pure and sparkling Thompson river. There is but one large fence surrounding the ranche, except that enclosing the house and farm buildings, there being but a slight space left to divide the various cereals and roots from one another. The hay crop two weeks ago was cut and the teams busy hauling and stacking it; barley was almost ready for cutting; wheat and oats very little behind, while root crops were thriving. The yield of all crops this year will be

MOST SATISFACTORY.

On the opposite side of the Savona road is the Stewart ranche proper. Below this is the old Perry ranche and the Dunn ranche. These are all owned now by Mr. James Stewart, who has grown wealthy in the freighting business of the past. These combined make probably the finest and most extensive ranche in the upper country. The residence is situated on the Perry ranche, on which the greater part of the crop is placed this year. The ranche curves around the mountains, and while standing in the centre its fortunate owner can say with Alexander Selkirk, "I am monarch of all I survey," for there is none other than his land in sight. Mr. Stewart hitched up his buggy horse and drove us over the ranch through the barley, wheat, oat and hay fields. The grain is the finest we have ever seen, the wheat being specially so, and will average 3000 pounds to the acre. The most modern machinery is in use on the ranche, about a dozen men being employed in the harvesting. A hay loader was at work, attached to a hay rack. This machine does remarkably quick work, picking the hay up and placing it at the rear end of the rack, one man driving the team and two others more than busy placing it forward. It was a pleasant sight to look at the luxuriantly growing grain, waiving in the warm sunlight of noon; the hay loading, the reaping machine at work in another part of the ranche, while men were busy preparing other work. The hay is unbaled and stacked in a few minutes by means of a derrick, the work thus progressing very quickly. Mr. Stewart is an extensive owner of horses, cattle and hogs, and just as we reached the yard the porkers were having their meal prepared in several casks. The mixture was placed in several troughs and the animals were in a short time running from all parts of the yard, pushing and shoving each other and acting generally in a hoggish manner at their meal, crowding the smaller pigs out of the trough and running to see if there was not a little more to be had in one than in the other. For the infant hogs an enclosure was made with room only to allow of them getting through the bars, so that here they would stand a chance of though among them the hoggish propensities of their elders were very manifest. The greater part of the Stewart ranch is this year in wheat, and to get this economically ground a flour mill is being built at the westerly end of the old Stewart ranch, a flume running from Cache Creek to run the turbine waterwheel and again emptying the water into the creek, so as not to interfere with Mr. Semlin's water rights. This mill is one of the Waterous Engine Co.'s of Brantford, Ont., and is most complete in its appointment. Next year about double the acreage of wheat will be grown, other portions of the ranch being utilized and those which have been a couple of years under crop summer followed.

The minutes of last regular meeting were read and adopted.

From David Spencer, asking for certain street lines in the Work estate. Granted.

From A. J. Rowbotham & Co., in reference to a bill owed to the firm by the superintendent of police. Referred to police committee for report.

MONTHLY ACCOUNTS.

The bills for the month of July were read, amounting to the sum of $1515 73, and were referred to the finance committee for payment.

TENDERS FOR DRAIN.

The following tenders were read for the building of the View street drain: Patrick Gilligan, $1200; Wild & McLeod, $1331; E. Mashn, $1925; Thoms Williams, $1725; James Baker, $1125.

Coun. Ward moved that the awarding of the contract be deferred until after the meeting of the council, as the lowest tender was in excess of the amount contemplated.

Coun. Braden said there was little use deferring it, as the work would have to be done.

Coun. Grant thought the drain should be constructed.

Coun. Earle said that the work had been thoroughly considered by the committee, and there was no doubt about its necessity and utility. He would second Coun. Ward's motion.

The matter was deferred.

POLICE CONSTABLE.

The following applied for the vacant position on the police force: Peter McDonald, W. Jackson, Geo. T. Buck, John McLaren, Edwin McLeod, Kenneth Nicholson, Ed. Able, Fritz Spohr, J. S. McDonald, C. Bush, Albert Spencer, R. Hart, E. H. Babbett, W. Wood and W. H. H. Adams.

The ballot was spread and the cigar-box passed around by Mr. Partridge. On the third ballot Mr. John McLaren was elected by a vote of 6 to 3.

CONSOLIDATION OF BYLAWS.

Coun. Grant moved, seconded by Coun. McKillican, that the sum of $300 be voted to defray the expenses of revising and consolidating the bylaws.

His worship stated that the city barrister was at present prosecuting the work.

The motion carried.

SANITARY.

Officer Flewin reported the existence of a couple of nuisances, and also that the Chinese owner of the furnace on Fisgard street refused to remove it, though he would place it in a proper condition.

Coun. Ward moved that the usual notices be served, and that the Chinaman be prosecuted for having a nuisance.

Coun. Braden thought the owner should be compelled to build a chimney if fire was used in the furnace. It was too bad to roast hogs Sunday.

Couns. Grant and Warner testified to the furnace being a nuisance and a danger.

The matter was referred to the fire wardens to take the necessary action in the case.

Coun. McKillican said that complaints were numerous about the depositing of filth on Stelly's field.

On motion of Coun Ward the inspector of nuisances was instructed to take proceedings against the offending parties.

STREET COMMITTEE REPORT.

The above committee reported that the blasting of rock at the head of Pandora street would cost $1,200, and that the work be deferred.

With reference to Mr. Gore's application for rock, they recommended that he be granted 100 yards of rock at $2 50 per yard.

The report was received and adopted.

WATER COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

The waterwork's committee reported as follows: 1. With reference to the petition of James Bay residents for water, they recommended that pipes be laid on streets as indicated on a plan so soon as the pipes are on hand, provided sufficient consumers were secured. 2 They recommended that Coughlan & Mason take a special service from the main to supply Mr. Mason's house and disconnect the present supply from the brickyard pipe; that Mr. Humber connect a pipe between the main and the meter for the purpose of drawing water to the buildings on the Gorge road; also that larger services be given the brickyards. 3. They could not recommend the Yates street extension. 4. They recommended the shutting off of water during certain hours, and that stop cocks be put in at junctions, to enable them to shut off the water at the prescribed hours.

Attached to the report was a plan of the James Bay extension, which includes the laying of pipes on Simcoe, Michigan, Superior, Menzies and Oswego streets; also the signatures of fifteen guaranteed consumers.

Coun. Smith said that the cost would be about $1,000, and that there was no doubt that the addition would pay ten per cent.

The report on motion of Coun. Warner was adopted.

CITY POUND.

Coun. Grant asked if it was most desirable and just that the pound should be removed from its present position, as it was a great annoyance to the people in the neighborhood.

Coun. McKillican thought that the city property at Spring Ridge was the most desirable place at present.

Coun. Braden bore personal testimony to the annoyance caused by the presence of the numerous dogs.

BASTION STREET GAOL.

Coun. Ward moved that their representatives in the provincial legislature be requested to use their influence to secure the old Bastion gaol site to the use and possession of the city.

Coun. Grant agreed with and seconded the motion. He thought the local government should give them this piece of property, seeing that they had dealt so liberally with New Westminster.

Coun. Ward asked if it was not time they were considering the advisability of erecting a city police station, as the new government gaol would be finished in November.

The council then went into committee of the whole.

QUEBEC, July 27.—News of a terrible tragedy which occurred on an east bound I. C. R. express train shortly after it left Levis this morning has just been learned. A young man named Robert Kerr, a passenger on his way to New Richmond, Que., it appears was closely followed and watched by a man named Kehoe, representing himself as a Chicago detective on some special charge of which Kerr was accused. Kerr was interviewed by the latter in a second-class car shortly after the train left Levis station. Kehoe says that after the interview Kerr asked him to go into a first-class car to talk the matter over. To go into a first-class car it was necessary to pass through the passage of the postal car. Kehoe says he was in advance, and just as he reached the middle of the car two shots from a revolver were fired which he thought were aimed at him. He immediately ran into the adjoining car with a revolver in his hand and exclaimed that there was a man shooting at him. Upon investigation Kerr was found dead in the passage of the postal car with two bullet wounds in his head. Detective Skiffington, who was on board the train, at once arrested Kehoe and brought him and the corpse back to Quebec, arriving here between 2 and 3 p. m. An inquest will be held. Kerr is a fugitive from Minneapolis.

TORONTO, July 27.—The Pictou Times announces the death of Dr. R. J. Chapman, son of Dr. Joseph Chapman, of Cornish, N. H. The deceased was born in the State of New Hampshire on the 1st of December, 1803.

BELLEVILLE, July 24.—A Mrs. Lloyd, living near Hinton, having some difference with her husband, took a dose of paris green with the intention of frightening him. Unfortunately she took too much, and the dose proved fatal. A man named Wood, in the same neighborhood, is also seriously ill with symptoms of paris green poisoning, but is slowly recovering. Matrimonial differences are also the cause of this case.

WINNIPEG, Man., July 24.—Rev Father Du Gast has just returned from a clerical visit to Riel and the other prisoners now in custody of the authorities of Regina. Riel showed some willingness to conform to the rites of the church, and make confession, but upon the priest telling him that as he should make public an apostacy from the Church of Rome, he would now have to give him a written renunciation of such apostacy before granting absolution, he declined stating that he had a mission to fulfil and his conscience would not allow him to do so. All the other prisoners, who were duped into following Riel, are penitent, and express profound sorrow for their conduct.

ELOTA, July 27.—At a barn raising near Kenilworth on Saturday the fall of a bent resulted in the death of one man, John Shaw, and the wounding of three others beyond much hope of recovery. Nineteen other persons were more or less injured.

The County Judge has declared that the recount of the ballots cast in the Scott Act election resulted in there being thirteen majority for the Act in St. Thomas.

OTTAWA, July 27.—Last night whilst arresting a man named Mc Manus near Anglesea Square, who was rather troublesome, detective Quinn dropped dead. As there are stories that he received a blow upon the head during the scuffle, a coroner's inquest is investigating the matter.

REGINA, July 24.—To-day Wm. Henry Jackson was tried before Justice Richardson and Legeune on a charge of treason-felony in connection with the rebellion. When asked whether he was guilty or not, the prisoner replied he had been Riel's secretary and wished to share his fate, whatever that was. Mr. Osler informed the court and the jury that the Crown had such reliable information as to Jackson's insanity that they could not press the case to conviction. Thos. E. Jackson gave evidence of his brother's-in-law sanity prior to and at the time of the Duck Lake engagement. J. B. McArthur, Q. C., for the prisoner, called Dr. Jukes, physician of the North West Mounted Police, who testified to Jackson's being subject to hallucinations and a mild type of insanity, probably curable under proper treatment, and that he would not consider him responsible for his acts. Dr. Cotton, of Regina, corroborated the evidence of Dr. Jukes. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty on the plea of insanity, and the sheriff was ordered to keep Jackson in charge until orders were received from the Lieutenant-Governor. The trial lasted about half an hour.

BATH, July 28.—Three brothers, Cornelius, Arnold and Frank Mills of this village, were out fishing on the bay this afternoon, when their boat capsized, and the two eldest, Cornelius and Arnold, were drowned. Frank saved himself by clinging to the boat until help came. Both bodies of the drowned were recovered.

Mr. George Stephen, President of the Canadian Pacific company, and Mr. Donald A. Smith sail for Canada August 13th. Mr. Stephen will return to England very shortly.
